

GMH-Map Project

Resource Update July 2017

We have done eight overview articles on Global Mental Health (GMH). The articles provide core resources/links to further orient mental health colleagues as well as colleagues across sectors.

Resource 1. GMH: A Resource Map for Connecting and Contributing (Psychology International, July 2011). This brief article provides a 60 minute overview of GMH via links to 10 written/multimedia resources on the web. It's a great way to quickly see the big picture.

Resource 2. GMH: Finding Your Niches and Networks (Psychology International, March 2012). This brief article builds upon the first article. It identifies 10 overlapping areas of GMH (niche-nets) with links to current web resources for each area.

Resource 3. GMH: A Resource Primer for Exploring the Domain (International Perspectives in Psychology: Research, Practice, Consultation, July 2012). This major research article has an extensive listing of GMH resources. The resources are categorized into six areas: organizations, publications, conferences, training, human rights, and humanitarian.

Resource 4. Exploring GMH: A Global Map for a Global Movement (Global Member Care: Crossing Sectors for Serving Humanity, 2013, pp. 229-244). Provides many core GMH resources including five suggestions for GMH involvement.

Resource 5. GMH: Strategies for Staying Current (Psychology International, March 2014). This brief article describes seven areas of "GMH Flows" to help stay updated with GMH and its inclusion in different sectors and health/development agendas.

Resource 6. Tracking and Trekking with GMH (Psychology International, June 2015) This brief article updates core GMH materials, highlighting GMH-related events over the past three years. Colleagues can still "participate" in these events via links to the online power points/videos.

Resource 7. GMH: Sharing and Synthesizing Knowledge for Sustainable Development (Global Mental Health, September 2016). This article illustrates the relevance of GMH and multi-sectoral knowledge for promoting sustainable development/wellbeing. It is an orientation framework in two parts: Context Resources–Global Multi-Sector Materials (GMS), featuring seven representative reports on global issues; Core Resources–GMH Materials, including seven representative lists of GMH materials.

Resource 8. GMH: Collaborating Across Sectors for Sustainable Development and Wellbeing (co-author Julian Eaton; Medicus Mundi Switzerland, Bulletin 141, 2017). This article orients colleagues across sectors to GMH and its relevance for the collective efforts to promote sustainable development-wellbeing. It includes updated resources organized into 10 areas of GMH Engagement.

Global Mental Health (GMH): "GMH is an international, interdisciplinary, culture-sensitive, and multi-sectoral domain which promotes human well being, the right to health, and equity in health for all. It encourages healthy behaviours and lifestyles; is committed to preventing and treating mental, neurological, and substance use conditions (MNS) especially for vulnerable populations (e.g., in settings of poverty, conflict, calamity, and trauma) and in low- and middle-income countries; and seeks to improve policies and programs, professional practices and research, advocacy and awareness, and social and environmental factors that affect health and well being."

GMH-Map is a collaborative project to compile and share important GMH resources across sectors. Through publications, training, and a website, the project supports quality mental health, wellbeing, and sustainable development. GMH-Map began in 2011 and is overseen by Dr. Kelly O'Donnell and Dr. Michèle Lewis O'Donnell, consulting psychologists with Member Care Associates (MCA). MCA is a non-profit organisation registered in the USA, based in Geneva. MCResources@gmail.com
