

[Topics—APA, NIMP, IAAP]

From: Kelly ODonnell <mcaresources@gmail.com>

Date: Wed, Jul 2, 2014 at 6:51 PM

Subject: Fwd: world-changing research----psychology input

To:

Hi Colleagues,

1, APA Monitor and Global Integration

In case you have not seen it:

Here is an article (link, two pages) in the latest issue of the Monitor on Psychology, American Psychological Association. It is on "world-changing research" (related to psychologists' involvement in the UN and world issues). As you will see, it is readily related to our understanding of "global integration"--how we connect and contribute personally/professionally on behalf of the major challenges facing humanity--ad majorem Dei gloriam.

Article link:

<http://www.apamonitor-digital.org/apamonitor/20140708/#pg31>

2.APA and NIMH

I want to note too that the CEO of the APA and the Director of the APA Office of International Affairs (Norm Anderson and Merry Bullock) were able to attend the morning session (Dr. Shekhar Saxena's excellent presentation--he is the Director of the WHO Dept. of MH) at the NIMH workshop on "Solving the Grand Challenges in Global Mental Health," 12-13 June. APA members and those in leadership continue to get involved in many ways in GMH and beyond. The Office of Internatinnal Affairs puts out a program with many of the international-related presentation and events in it that will be at the APA Convention--this August in DC for example.

3. ICAP and CAPS

One other note is that the biennial International Congress of Applied Psychology meets this month in Paris and the theme is similar to the CAPS 2015 theme, yet with their usual international context--"From Crisis to Sustainable Well-Being."

<http://www.icap2014.com/>

Please feel free to forward!

Warm greetings,

Kelly and Michele