Suggestions to prepare for Michèle and Kelly’s presentation:

1. Watch the four most recent, one-minute reports in the United Nations Week in Review.
   --Pause the videos periodically. Reflect on how 1-3 items relate to the causes and consequences of trauma.
   --Describe in one sentence why it is important to view our “globails” (global ails) through a trauma lens.

2. Review Confronting the Trauma Pandemic: Collaboration and Care (Member Care Update, March 2019). “In this Update we focus on a variety of perspectives, tools, and initiatives regarding global trauma. What is being done to combat trauma locally through globally, including collaborating to address the causes and consequences of trauma and caring for traumatized people and communities? This diverse topic is sobering, saddening, massive, and utterly necessary to address.”
   --Identify 1-3 items in this Update that interest you the most for further study or involvement.
   --What other trauma-related items or emphases would you want to include in this Update?

3. Read Wellbeing for All: Mental Health Professionals and Sustainable Development (Journal of Psychology and Christianity, March 2017, pages 70-75). “This article explores how mental health professionals (MHPs), especially Christians whose faith-based values help shape and support their professional work, can connect and contribute to the growing efforts to promote wellbeing for all people and the planet. We highlight three current and unprecedented global efforts, foremost being the United Nations 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development (2015), followed by the World Health Organization’s Mental Health Action Plan (2013) and the United Nations One Humanity: Shared Responsibility (2016b). “Global integration” and “global mental health” are also presented as frameworks to help guide MHPs’ global involvement. We finish with some convictions and commitments for Christian MHPs to consider.”
   --The word “trauma” appears three times in this short article. Find them!
   --Make one personal application of the Seven Commitments which are listed at the end of the article.

Notes

Global Integration (GI) is a framework for actively and responsibly engaging in our world—locally through globally—for God’s glory. GI emphasizes connecting relationally and contributing relevantly on behalf of human wellbeing and the issues facing humanity in light of our integrity, commitments, and core values (e.g., ethical, humanitarian, human rights, faith-based).
